Originally designed for the 'Gentleman' woodworker, this smaller handled saw is a variety of Dovetail Saw. The perfect partner to the Hand and Tenon Saws, the classic Gent's Saws are made for dovetail applications and are still a very popular seller today and come in a range of sizes to compliment your work. The Gents Saw has a brass back and beech handle, 20TPI as standard. Saws available in packaged (Hang Sell) or unpackaged (Educational Range - Plastic Sleeve) The Educational Range:- With budget considerations being of precedence but also the need to instill the use of high quality, re-sharpenable tools, Lynx have created the educational range. The saws have all the great features of high quality saws in its use of good quality steel and beech handles, however remain affordable by economising on some of the aesthetics and packaging options. These saws will ensure that starter woodworkers will not become deterred by a saw that does not function to a high standard and will encourage the use of traditional tools and skills. These saws can be re-sharpened. Features:-
