The SVN450 fastening tilting system consists of an SVN250 basic system fitted on a tilting support. Allows you to machine the edges and surface of the piece without changing the grip. It includes an air distributor with four free sockets, which allows the connection of SVN470 or SVN250 auxiliary units, equipped with valve and quick connector to the pneumatic system. Also included in the equipment is a G-clamp for quick clamping of the SVN450 system to the workbench and a set of three rubber seals of different perimeters.
