Small Knife Blade Sharpener SVM-00 by Tormek

Features:-

The holder is designed to securely hold the knife without damaging the handle

There is really no limit to how small a blade you can sharpen Works in conjunction with the knife jig

Description:- Sharpening small knife blades was an issue many of our customers wanted us to address. Yes, we have the SVM-45 knife jog for our Tormek Sharpening Systems, but tiny knives still posed a problem. To meet that need, we developed this small knife sharpening jig. It's used in conjunction with the SVM-45, and makes it so you can sharpen those smaller knives without damaging or marring the handle. So that small antique pocketknife Grandpa gave you can be sharpened with confidence (along with any other small blade.) The best part is the versatility in regards to knife blade size. In truth, there really is no limit to how small the blade can be, so even precision knives - like whittling knives, chip carving knives, and knives used in detail work - can be sharpened to a precision edge, with that consistent 'exactness' that Tormek is known for. Again, if you've ever said 'I wish Tormek would make something for sharpening smaller bladed knives', well, here's your answer. Full Manufacturer Warranty
