The EnviroSafe Mosquito Drops are the result of research and development of liquids which spread across the surfaces of water. The product has a purely physical action as does not contain any toxic chemicals. Its strong spreading action ensures that it will move around vegetation and other obstacles on the surface and is highly resistant to wind or ripple action. It is also unaffected by rain falling on the surface. Unlike bed nets and chemical spraying, which are aimed at adult mosquitoes, EnviroSafe Mosquito Drops are aimed at the mosquito breeding stages and is therefore complementary to these methods. EnviroSafe Mosquito Drops are a unique liquid Mosquito control. They work by forming a very thin silicone film on water surfaces thereby suffocating immature mosquito stages and disrupting the Mosquito lifecycle. In some instances young wrigglers may still be present after treatment but these will be eliminated before they can turn into adults. EnviroSafe Mosquito Drops also have advantages over chemical and biological larvicides: special equipment is not needed, and it can be applied by the general public. its efficacy is not affected in heavily polluted water. it has an impact on all stages of the breeding cycle
