An accurate and practical shoulder plane is a must have item for producing neat, attractive, mortice and tenon joinery. Used on its side the shoulder plane takes extremely fine shavings on the endgrain of tenon shoulders. Gradually working back from the sawn surface to reveal the polished track left by your marking gauge or knife; when the track appears all the way around the shoulder you know it is perfectly square and true.

The sole, sides and bed of the normalized grey iron casting are precision machined, whilst the front, top and rear are polished to a mirror finish.
